

1 ABSTRACT

2

3 A method of validating a public key comprising the steps of receiving a public key, computing a
4 function of the public key, the function having a predefined value for all points of a given order,
5 and comparing the result of the function to predetermined information to indicate the validity of 6 the public key.

7

8